Early Literacy at Home

At the Wilkinsburg Public Library we are committed to supporting children and their families!

Fostering a love of stories, books, and reading at an early age sets children up for success later in life. As educators we call this print motivation. Here are some ways you can help support print motivation at home:

- Make reading a fun part of your daily routine. Even a few minutes every night makes a big difference!
- Talk to your child about how you use reading and writing every day (at work, texting friends, reading street signs etc.)
- Check out books from the library! Making reading a special activity for the whole family.
